

File Created by Blogging Rebirth WP Plugin

Best Chicken Breeds for Your 4-H Projects

The Best Breeds of Chickens

Suitable for 4-H Projects

The various best chicken breeds for 4h are listed below.

A 4-h project is built on a specific outcome. These chickens breeds are in conjunction with the project as well.

Chickens can be kept for several specific reasons, such as their eggs, for meat, as pets as well as for show.

Different chicken breeds also prosper under different circumstances. You get breeds who do well in free range situations as well as breeds who cope well in confinement.

The Best Breeds for Your 4-H Projects are chickens that make themselves stand out in a crowd for a certain trait.

The Best Breeds for Your 4-H Projects Included:

The Silkie Breed of Chicken

These are one of the most popular chicken breeds amongst youths and small children and are one of the favorite best chicken breeds for 4h.

Silkie chickens love to be held and played with. Their fluffy appearance makes them very appealing to small children. Silkie chickens are not big on laying eggs, but if you are simply looking for a for a 4-h project to be used in a classroom environment, the Silkie chickens are your best bet.

The Orpington Bantam Breed of Chicken

Because of it's size, it grows to approximately 6.5 lbs, as well as the fact that they adapt well to close confinement, the Orpington Bantam is one of the best chicken breeds for youth projects who can grow the biggest chicken in the allowed time frame.

These chickens are very friendly, easy to handle as well as being very quite, which makes them the perfect choice to be used in a classroom situation.

Additional Best Breeds for Your 4-H Projects

If you are looking for best chicken breeds for 4h that involves egg laying chickens for adults (or older youths), then you can't go wrong with the other chickens that make the best pets.

The Leghorn Breed of Chicken

These are one of the worlds best known breeds. They are excellent scavengers and economical eaters, which makes them excellent, free range chickens. The wonderful thing about the Leghorn breed is not only that they are excellent free range chickens, but that they can also be kept in confined spaces.

Chickens within this breed are some of the best egg producers in the world. Because of all these qualities, The White Leghorn breed will work well as a large scale 4-h project in caring and raising free range chickens as well as a large scale project involving the establishment of a poultry farm for commercial egg production purposes.

The Jersey Giant Breed of Chicken

If you are wanting best chicken breeds for 4h that involves chickens for meat production purposes is what you want, then your best option is the Jersey Giant.

These are the biggest breed of chickens. They are sturdy and are adapt well to free ranging or confinement. They are friendly, docile birds that are easily tamed.

These traits make the Jersey Giant one of the best breeds of chickens for 4-h projects for meat production, especially if the project involves individuals who are new to poultry farming.

These are but a few examples. With many different breeds of chickens out their, the possibilities for best chicken breeds for 4h projects are endless.

You can also find this article published on Best Chicken Breeds for Your 4-H Projects, and on the tag pages 4h Chickens, Best Chicken Breeds for 4H, Best Chicken Breeds for Your 4-H Projects, Chicken Breeds for 4-H Projects, Jersey Giant chickens, Leghorn Breed, Orpington Bantam, Silkie Breed.